

THE GREEN ROAD TO COMPLIANCE

Helping authors navigate the NIH Public Access Policy

1 START

Is your article funded by an NIH Institute or Center? Click here to find out.

2

Cite funding and NIH grant number in the acknowledgements section of your manuscript.

3

Submit manuscript to chosen journal. If prompted, answer any funding-related questions.

Double-check your email address – this is how NIH will notify you when action is required.

4

Upon acceptance, enter the manuscript information into your NCBI My Bibliography account as a forthcoming paper.

5

Confirm that Wiley submits your peer-reviewed manuscript to NIHMS.

Authors and awardees are responsible for ensuring the manuscript is deposited.

6

NIH will email you to approve the submission for processing in the NIHMS.

7

Log into your NCBI My Bibliography account and link the paper to all awards that directly supported it.

The Principal Investigators of these awards will be contacted by the NIHMS for confirmation.

8

NIH will email you to review and approve the PMC web-ready version of your manuscript.

9

NCBI will link the forthcoming citation to the published record and assign a PMCID number.

A PMCID must be obtained within 90 days from the official date of publication.

10

FINISH

PMC makes your paper publicly available after the embargo period has expired.

QUESTIONS?

Check out these free resources from NIH:

- > Video overview
- > Illustrated submission tutorials
- > Frequently Asked Questions